1. (Original) A metallocene compound of formula 1 for use as a medicament in the treatment of cancer.

wherein  $R^1$ ,  $R^2$ ,  $R^3$  and  $R^4$  represent a combination of H, alkyl, aryl or trimethylsilyl;

L represents side chain substituents, at least one of which contains a group which enables the compound to become water-solubilised;

X is halo, alkoxy, acetate or  $H_2O$ ;

Y is a counter-ion;

M is a metal; and $n = 1$  or  $2$ ,

wherein  $n = 1$  when one of the side chain substituents L contains a group which enables the compound to become water-solubilised, and  $n = 2$  when both of the side chain substituents L contain groups which enables the compound to become water-solubilised.
